DAVE CARUSO:

SO FAR

THE CONCERT

Saturday, June 9, 1990
9:00 p.m.

One person does not put on a show like this one alone. I had a lot of help, as you can see in this program, which was put together especially to thank all of these people.

The following is dedicated to people who feel that more time should be given to speeches on award shows:

There are a few people that need a special mention for all they do for me, not just in this show, but also in friendship, moral support, and patience: Heading off the list, especially in the patience department, is My Wife Sherry. I'd also like to thank my special guest and role model in life, Lee Thomas. You can look for him in my July 7th show. (He'll be the tall one). My right arm, Ralph Koschnitzke, who besides being a good friend puts all of my printed materials together --including tickets, the program, and Aural Contact. (All of this, and he insists on doing impressions, too). My other right arm and one of my closest friends, Nick Mazzola. (I was gonna call Nick "My Left Foot," but for some reason I decided against it). Dean Piggott and Kevin Mitchell, two of my Caruso associates, were indispensable to me many times onstage and off, and I owe them a million. (As soon as I get it, guys...)

...and thanks especially to anyone I might have missed.
